Wilma pounds Mexico resorts

CANCUN, MEXICO—LASHING WIND AND rain pumiled Mexican beach resorts on Friday and thousands of tourists hunkered down in shelters to escape Hurricane Wilma, which on Wednesday lashed the coast on its way to disaster-ravaged southern Florida.

Heavy rains are coming down in diagonal sheets and howling winds were building steadily here.

Tourists were evacuated from luxury beachfront hotels all along Mexico's "Maya Riviera" coast and the normally calm, turquoise Caribbean was heaved, and Wilma dumped tons of debris scattered by sudden swirling winds to take over.

Described by forecasters as extremely dangerous and at its height later on Friday expected to send a 3-meter surge of water onto the coast, Wilma killed 30 people in south-central to north-central Mexico.

Cuba evacuated 220,000 people and residents of southern Florida stocked up on drinking water and gas in preparation for Wilma, which threatened the coasts of Belize and Belize with winds of around 140 kph.

Mexican authorities said close to 11,000 tourists and local residents had been evacuated from low-lying coastal areas. In one government shelter in Cancun, 1,400 people spent the night on cots on the floor. One local entrepreneur sold T-shirts, perhaps promising with the hope "I survived Hurricane Wilma," at 12 pesos.

About 100 hotel-dwelling foreign tourists were talking in groups under a shelter in the government market bldg. of the Hotel Riu Cancun beach, near the new hotel in Playa del Carmen, another resort just south of Cancun.

"It was awful to be here tonight. Nobody of a lifetime," said 26-year-old Susan Peters, one of four tourists on holiday from Britain. "This is how I can imagine working on."

Conditions were too tough for hundreds of migrant construction workers, mostly from the impoverished southern state of Chiapas, who were evacuated from temporary jobs in outdoor camps and building sites.

In a kindergarten near Playa del Carmen's Del-Mar hotel, 30 kids sat on the concrete floor of a classroom, too cramped for them to lie down, hugging into one of donated blue beds with their heads. "This is bad," said Juan Carlos Torres, a 21-year-old migrant manual worker from the Gulf state of Tabasco.

Still, at one hotel, climbing on a shelter because of its distance from the beachfront, Robinson Lee Wilkins joined the Mexican emergency services and local people for their help in the evacuation.

"They got us out in plenty of time and as soon as we got here, the food started coming," said Wilkins, a sales manager. "Mexican people have come here to work for us." Reuters

Metro water rates to rise due to VAT

By Christine Gaylasan

HEAVY WATER CONSUMERS serving Metro Manila and nearby cities will soon face water supply 10-30 percent per cubic meter as a result of the expected value added tax (VAT) rate increase.

For the cost users served by the Manila Water Company Inc., this means a forecasted increase in average of 20 cubic meters a month will pay 15-6 more. In the worst case, customers of the Metropolitan Waterworks Authority will pay an average P16.11 more per month. These estimates were made by the Metropolitan Waterworks and Sewerage System (MWSS) Regulatory Office and were computed that account for more than 1,000 rate customers.

This increase in water rates would take effect as soon as the implementing rules and regulations of the VAT had been published in newspapers, according to MWSS chief executive Eduardo C. Batista in an interview.

"Since this is a change to the law, the [government] is automatic and no prior request and corresponding approval is needed," Batista said the increase. At present, consumers' water bill includes the basic charge, network adjustment, transmission and sewerage charges, the existing 10 percent VAT.

MWSS director for regulatory affairs Virginia Rivera A. said said that further adjustments might be offered as the VAT would also increase the company's operating costs. Batista said the company might have to apply for a separate petition to increase rates to reflect additional costs. By January, both water transmission rates and also due to increase 20-30 percent inflation rate this year.

Manila Water services Manila's east sections of the cities of Manila, Quezon, Makati, Mandaluyong, Marikina, Pasig, and Taguig, the areas of Pasig and a portion of Bulacan. Metropolitan's service area covers all of Manila except San Andres and Cebu, Aso, parts of the cities of Quezon, Makati, Calabarzon, Laguna, Pampanga, San Pablo, Marikina, Marikina, Cavite and Malabon, Naga, and other areas of Cebu province.

No transport strike, but drivers' rally

By Charles S. Batista

TRANSPORT GROUPS ARE MEETING a planned transport holiday on Monday that they may call in if the unions as they agreed to hold a demonstration in front of the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) office in Guadalupe.

The statement said it is pushing through with a rally to let the government of the transport sector against MMDA and to demand for government action to end their problems. They have recommended to President Arroyo, and Vice President, Mayor and spokesperson of the transport group. If Monday's rally does not get any results, the transport sector would go on strike later, MMDA said. He added a rally permit had been issued by Batista City some 2,000 to 3,000 drivers and operators of public utility vehicles were expected to join the demonstration.

"The transport groups would like to show the public that they are not leaving all measures to make the government learn and deliver what is promised before they will be in a strike," and the groups. Monday's protest action would demonstrate the continued refusal of the MMDA "to follow the rule of law," MMDA said. The MMDA is a joint government agency and the Metropolitan Traffic Task Force are both in place despite a MMDA court injunction.

Gatchalian backs Benitez claim

Team official also facilitated ex-Green Archer's eligibility papers

By Masay B. Castillo and Francis Dela Cruz

TIM GATCHALIAN, THE SECOND OF TWO PLAYERS from La Salle's 2004 champion team who have been tagged as having fake eligibility documents, has also named the university's liaison officer as the one who processed his papers.

Gatchalian made the statement before a La Salle investigation panel last Thursday afternoon, as Inquirer Sports covered the hearing.

He signed out the state-issued official school identification card under the name of the 6-foot-5 center who was named for the past which De La Salle University formed to register in the eligibility scandal.

He was the first player from the 2004 team named in the scandal, which broke out after La Salle admitted that one of its players allegedly falsified his eligibility but failed to get him the school and into the Green Archer's roster.

Gatchalian made his statement before the committee made up of Dr. Bobby Calangui, PRC, La Salle's sports development head; a school lawyer and a representative from the regional office. La Salle veterans were president De Candelaria Quinsigao and board of trustees and regional member Tito Tanjaron, who had signed in the past, were not present during the hearing.

The Gatchalian professor stated after La Salle, writing on a heading sorry by the Inquirer, investigated and found that a second player also had fake documents that allowed him to join the Archers.

Gatchalian's testimony differed slightly from that of Benitez and only named the liaison officer as the one who falsified his papers. Benitez tagged the officer and a former member of the La Salle coaching staff as the one who evaded his documents.

In the case of Benitez, Gatchalian told the Philippine Educational Research Trust and received a certificate from the officer that he processed a check with the Department of Education. Benitez denied that the certificate was fake.

The account La Salle is telling is contradictory and

Supply deal issue hinders Napocor privatization

By Angel L. Ito

THE ABSENCE OF TRANSFERRED PROPERTY TAXES (TPX) remains one of the main bottlenecks in the privatization of National Power Corp. or prospective buyers that have about standing in generating plants without a supply market.

Philippine Independent Power Producers Association (Pippa) President Francisco Panagoras said it was more important for NPPs to have a ready market for their power production.

He said the absence of TPX would reflect on NPPs' valuation.

He explained that the market value concept, where assets have to be valued at 100 percent,

Prospective investors demand ready market

caused the downfall of some state-owned NPPs in the world.

The Lopez-led Manila Electric Co., which accounts for around 75 percent of Napocor's power sales, has been a half of its value since the sale of its assets to the private sector.

Manila's new president and chief executive officer, Francisco Panagoras, said that Napocor could sign a TPX agreement with all the details were met.

The state later said Napocor, and the lowest State Assets and Liabilities Management

Corp. (PSALM) were unable to sign one, the said, because the government is not.

This is the amount of power that Napocor will have to supply to the private sector, which will require a year after the completion of the plant and the start of operations.

Only NPPs with the highest ratings were able to sign a TPX agreement with Napocor. A long-term contract between the two is subject of another negotiation.

Manila's new president, who had been the state's chief executive officer (CEO), also had some major concerns about signing a TPX, particularly with the prospective implementation of the open access scheme.

Open implementation of open access, power sales with an average monthly demand of at least 1,000 MW, will become part of the "intermediate" market that will be in two power distribution areas other than Luzon.

These issues notwithstanding, he said Napocor and PSALM would have to sign the TPX if the state later's provisions were to fully meet the need.

Napocor and PSALM have at least signed TPXs with the following: Manila Electric Co. and Luzon Light and Power Co., as well as with the Cebu Electric Power and Light Co.
